Everett Sanders Named by G. O. P. To Lead Party's Presidential Drive

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(P)—The republican machine was reorganized quickly today for the 1932 campaign with Everett Sanders, of Indiana, as the new chairman of the national committee.

Sanders, a former secretary to President Coolidge and former congress man from indiana, was the choice of President Hoover for campaign manager. His name was presented to the national committee at a meeting just after the convention closed by Postmaster-General Brown, director of the pre-convention Hoover activities, and accepted unanimously.

In a meeting exuding harmony, Sanders took immediate charge and called for a vigorous campaign in behalf of the republican party and its newly-chosen nominees, President Hoover and Vice President Curtis.

"We are going to win," he told the committeemen and women, "because the party and the nominees stand for sound government."

Senator Fess, of Ohio, the retiring chairman, and Dr. Hubert Work, of Colorado, the chairman in the 1928 campaign, joined Sanders in presiding over the committee organization was re-elected. Don't TEASE flies

You might just as well tease an elephant with a shotgun as to go after flies with weak methods. If you want to see flies drop dead-spray the air full of fine, clean Black Flag mist. The wonderful substance in Black Flag, that hills insects (but can't hurt people or house pets), comes from rare flowers. It is Nature's own secret-quick, sure, safe. Use it on mosquitoes, or any other bug.

* For crawling insects, like ants and roaches, Black Flag Powder gives best results. You shoot it in the cracks where the insects hide. It works the same way-knocks bugs dead as dead can be. Every good druggist, grocer, hardware or general store sells Black Flag. It kills quicker-and costs no more.

Varying Breakfasts.

This business of breakfasts is a rather doubtful one in many families. A hurried cup of coffee, some fruit juice and toast seems to be the extent of most people's breakfast capac-ity. But perhaps the disfavor in which breakfast is held is due more to the hurried service and lack of fore-thought than to actual disinclination for the food.

Now, while the red raspberries offer colorful and picturesque overtonesis the time to intrigue the family's elusive interest in this meal of all meals for intimate associaton between meals for intimate associaton between its members.

Imagine the cooling effect of a really fine white linen breakfast cloth, spread upon the chummy breakfast table in the kitchenette or sun parlor; a low green bowl of white friezias and ilies of the valley; a green pottery bowl full of perfect, glistening and cold red raspberries; a matching mug of rich country eram and a low bowl equally bad.

With all of the fresh fruits and vegetables on the market today a cooling and reducing luncheon is entirely possible, and one which gives the necessary energy-food, too.

A vitamin soup is intriguing, filling yet not fattening. To make it, take small portions of the various fresh vegetables available for dinner service, out them up small, toss them into a small portions of the various fresh, vegetables available for dinner service, cut them up small, toss them into a pan with barely enough water to cover them easily. The water should be cold and should have a flavorful bouillon cube added to it. Add salt and pepper and a mere suggestion of clove for instance, then bring the vegetables to the boil, and simmer gently for 15 minutes, no longer. Here is a vitamin-soup worth considering, especially if chopped watercress or lettuce, some minced parsley, diced carrots, fine-cut string beans, scallions sliced or minced and 2 or 3 chopped spinach leaves have been used as the base of it. Start the solitary repast with a thin, beautiful glass of cold spiced tomato juice, sipped appreciatively, and then bring on the second course of piping hot, thick vitamin soup accompanied by some kind of thinsic crackers. POWER COMPANIES'TAX 2 FLORIDA CANDIDATES INCREASED, SAYS CRISP

WASHINGTON, June 16 .- Convinced that many citizens are laboring under the delusion that power com-panies are exempted from increased taxes under the terms of the new reve-nue act which places a tax of 3 per cent on consumers of electricity, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, today issued a formal statement in which he seeks to justify his position as acting chairman of the house ways and means committee.

"The agitation in connection with the 3 per cent tax on consumers of electricity," said Judge Crisp, "has created the impression on some minds that the new tax bill exempts the power companies from increased taxes and places them instead on consumers. This is far from true. Under the terms of the revenue act the corporation tax paid by these companies is greatly increased and the income taxes paid by the officials and stockholders of the companies are more than douof the companies are more than dou-bled. Thus we see that any profits made by the companies will be most heavily taxed."

Change in Liquor Status Certain, Mark Sullivan Says

CHICAGO, June 16.—By the action of the republican national convention, it is certain that prohibition is launched in a modified direction. The ultimate destination, the status of liquor and the control of it two or three or more years from now, can be partially foreseen. The present method is clearly fated for change though not for several. The action of the republicans is the first step. The democrats two weeks from now will take a step in the same general direction. After the two conventions are over it will be clear to everybody are over it will be clear to everybody that prohibition is headed for a new charge. That characteristic is the assertion of a right and duty in the federal government to forbid and prevent sale of liquor in any and every state regardless of whether the state wants it or not. That is the thing that is about to be eliminated. The new phase of prohibition when it is attained, and by whatever path it is reached will include the right of any state to have liquor sold within its borders whenever a majority of the voters of such state want that done. This broad condition is certain to come. There may be some qualifications to it. One group at the republican nivention wanted this right of the states to be subject to withdrawal by congress. Practically all groups wanted congress to have at all times enough supervision of liquor within a wet state to be able to ensure that none of it shall be shipped legally into a dry state. That the federal government shall have the duty and power to protect dry states in their dryness was demanded by drys and moderates of every degree, and was not seriously resisted by wets. These qualifications and shadings of the kind and degree of power to be retained by the federal government will be the subject of much refinement of debate. That will not reduce the central fact that in the new status of prohibition a state shall have the right if it chooses to permit the sale of liquor within its borders.

So much is clear. Another surmise

So much is clear. Another surmise about the new phase of prohibition when it comes is less certain but looks probable. Close scrutiny of the devel-opments at the republican convention probable. Close scrutiny of the developments at the republican convention would seem to suggest that whether the arguers pro and con realize it or not we are headed toward a status in which the manufacture and sale of liquor shall be a state monopoly of the sort that has existed in Canada, Sweden and a third of a century ago for a brief period in South Carolina. Manufacture and sale of liquor as a private industry carried on for profit is tacitly banned by many of the arguments made by the wetter of the wets; and as a matter of course it is banned by the drys, Wet Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler was careful to say in all his arguments at Chicago that he and the wets for whom he spoke are opposed to the return of the saloon. The democrats when they meet here in two weeks will say the same, no matter how far they go in wetness. Ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith has already said that what he wants is "without the old evil of the saloon." The principal evil of the saloon was mainly the stimulation of the consumption of liquor for the sake of profit to the private owner, which was in almost all cases a large brewery sumption of liquor for the sake of profit to the private owner, which was in slmost all cases a large brewery corporation. The term "saloon" means the retail sale of liquor for consumption on the remises as a privately-owned business conducted for profit.

Sales Without Profit.

Accepting this definition the only practicable way to conform to promises not to bring back the saloon would seem to be to have the manuwould seem to be to have the manuwould seem to be to have the manufacture and sale through a government agency without profit. The wet leaders may not all realize it, but the pledges they are giving now as a means of reassuring drys will in their fulfillment confine the manufacture and sale of liquor to public agencies. A fair guess would be that the next status of prohibition when we arrive at it will be something like this; Any

The prohibitionists are just another lost tribe of Israel as the result of the republican resubmission plank, in the opinion of Mayor James L. Key, whose utterances on the eighteenth amendment contributed heavily to the wet swing of the pendulum.

The republican platform on prohibition will disappoint both wets and drys and will not be attractive to the great unattached element of voters, Mayor Key said. "It is neither wet nor dry; there is no courage in it," Mayor Key said of the plank.

Mayor Key, predicting that the democrats will come out for a definite program of repeal, said that the revolt in the minds of the people is so strong that it will cause the pendulum to swing from one extreme to the other. "A fight could have been made for government control of the whisky business, profits to be divided between the federal and local governments, but as it is now, this question probably will have to be fought out afterward."

SEEDSMEN HEAR HASTINGS, COBB AT CONVENTION

That farmers must be educated to use and select better seeds in the planting of their crops before seeds can be developed to a permanent state of improvement was the opinion of delegates to the fourteenth annual Southern Seedsmen Association's convention in their first day's conclave at the Biltmore hotel Thursday. In his opening address Thursday morning, W. Ray Hastings of Atlanta, president of the association, stated that more and more people were turning their attention to the beautifying of their homes with flowers, and that in doing so they were finding exercise and recreation, and were making a sound investment, in that they were enhancing the value of their property.

Seedsmen Thursday heard C. A. Cobb, of Atlanta, editor of the Southern Ruralist and Progressive Farm-struction work on the Philadelphia naval hospital.

One reduction made by the senate has placed Secretary of State Stimson in an embarrassing position. He had promised marines would be sent to supervise the elections in Nicaragua and the house had voted to appropriate $125,000 for this expense.

The senate promptly removed this provision in the interest of economy. This will be one of the first pressing problems before Stimson when he returns to his desk tomorrow from Chicago where he has attended the republican convention.

The addition of coloring matter to gasoline does not increase its anti-knock value, nor does it improve its quality or make it "high-test." It merely changes its color.

CROWN ETHYL GASOLINE is a red motorfuel, but its added power, quicker starting and pick-up and anti-knock qualities are derived from the combination of Ethyl anti-knock compound with an extra-volatile gasoline of the highest grade—and not from its color.

CROWN STANDARD GASOLINE is a pure, white gasoline of crystal clearness. It contains no sulphur to corrode your motor, no gum to clog your valves, and forms less carbon. The claim often made for other motor-fuels, that they are "just as good," obviously suggests that Crown Standard Gasoline is the standard of quality.

Don't depend on color when you buy gasoline. Look for the Crown Ethyl Gasoline or Crown Standard Gasoline trade-mark on the pump.

KOUGH TREATMENT Synthetic Enthusiasm Noted At Renomination of Hoover

Everything Scheduled To Happen Except 'Bum's Rush' Given Former Senator France, Trying To Name Coolidge.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.
CHICAGO, June 16.—(UP)—An incident probably unprecedented in the history of national political conventions—the spectacle of a candidate for president being physically ejected from the platform by a squad of policemen—marced the cherwise narmonious closing of the republican gathering today.

Joseph I. France, of Maryland, former United States senator, had just heard himself eulogized by his friend.

G. L. Sandblast, of Oregon, who placed his name before the convention as President Hoover shoulding the nomination.

Hoover republicans always have been a little nervous about Calvin Coolidge. Convention leaders wore troubled looks today when the plantend of reports that the name of the age of Vermont was to be thrown before the convention. But they did not think France had any official standing, though a presidential can didate.

With a quick, nervous gesture France rushed up to the platform from the rear steps. His baildheaded, tall and bulky figure loomed up before the vision of dapper little James Francis Burke, of Pittsburgh counselor of the republican national committee. France was excited. Burke was agahast.

Where are the sergeants-at-arms? Scalimed Burke as France advanced, France gained the platform, and was figure and the sound conventions from our cities are alemocrats and the republican powers. Where are the sergeants-at-arms? Scalimed Burke as France advanced, France gained the platform, and was figure and the sound conventions from our cities are alemocrats and the republican powers. synthetic representation of an outlambered over railings.

"I insist on my rights and denand the right to speak," France told he men who held him back. "I am intitled to this platform. I have broper credentials."

He wore the badge and carried the redentials of William P. Jackson, of daryland, and had intended, he said ater, to put Calvin Coolidge in nomination and deliver a speech urging its candidacy.

Explanations did not come, howver, until a dozen policemen, under same whizzers and buzzers and bands, marching robots and whooping mortons, to do the same kind of a show over and over again. Probably because Chicago will have a little more enthusiasm for the democrats, the galleries will help to stimulate the spectacle. But their help will be lost in the vast distance of the architectural cave of Ali Baba, wherein this week Mr. Hoover's human ants run up and down so futilely.

And it all means just nothing. It means nothing despite the hollowness of the day's manifestation of delight Hoover may carry every state in the Union, or Vermont and Utah may be his portion, as they were Taft's. The comen and reporters who had crowd in the third the room.

"Chairman Snell knew I was going to nominate Coolidge and he fould weep the convention, that's by I was stopped," France extained. He told MacChesney he fould "be sorry for this." MacChesey told policemen to release France. Had he nominated Coolidge, he tould have withdrawn as a canditate. France said.

He pulled from his pocket the manscript of his speech, crumpled on he platform when France and his itersaries grappled with each other and made menacing gestures, although riking no blows. France later sent page to the hall for his hat and tired peacefully.

His speech, had it reached the ears the delegates, would have told them bluminously of America's problems of would have concluded:

"I arise to call that illustrious ame, a name known to all America, and the convention of Hoover, was pure stage management. As such it had no campaign value and fore-shadows no campaign value and fore-shadows no campaign result.

"Bum's Rush" for France.

Yet, the convention that is now closed was distinctly of its own kind—republican to the core. Nothing happened that was not on the program except a little flareup in which former Senator France, trying to get the floor to nominate Coolidge, was given what the boys call the "bum's rush" and landed in the basement alleway and later was hustled up to a police captain's office to tell the huddled reporters all about it.

This was the only untoward incident and it meant nothing, Otherwise the formality of the republican convention went its appointed way. And a good efficient way it is, if you want to get the job done on the program except a little flareup in which former Senator France, trying to get the floor to nominate Coolidge, was given what the boys call the "bum's rush" and landed in the basement allegand in the basement Pennsylvania hid her nest until the psychological moment and then came educking in with the 75 fuzzy little votes which gave Curtis the nomination. Pennsylvania is regular, belongs to the organization, and goes along with the White House whatever personal opinions Pennsylvania may hold about the White House.

So platform, nomination and vice president all went through as they should have gone—quickly, decently, happily without hitch, break or hindrance—a most republican occasion.

Miss Sara Nisbet Cassels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Jones Cassels, of 250 Howard street, N. E., was graduated from the University of South Carolina, with the degree of bachelor of arts, magna cum laude. During her undergraduate course Miss Cassels has been gathering honors and distinctions. The McDuffie honorary scholarship in English was given her for the concluding year of her course in college. She was president of the Y. W. C. A., and of the Euphrosynean Literary Society, which is a daughter organization of the historic Euphradean Literary Society of the university. As senior valedictorian she spoke on the subject of "Changing Attitudes Toward Woman's Education in the University."

As great-granddaughter of a Confederate of Liberty county, Georgia, Miss Cassels endeared herself to the Columbia chapters by her excellent essays in competition for medals offered by these chapters, Her winning cessay, on "Newspapers of the Confederacy," was read before the Wade Hampton chapter in Mny, and was published in the State, May 26, 1932. She won the medal offered by the Columbia chapter, U. D. C., with her paper, "The Epic of Lee: The Virginia Campaigns."

Miss Cassels was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa in recognition of her high scholastic achievements, and was given the Algernon Sydney Sullivan award, a bronze plaque. Miss Cassels' father and mother, her sisters, Mrs. John McGowan Bowen and ATHENS, Ga., June 16.—The marriage of Miss Susan Frances Barrow, charming young daughter and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Henry Barrow, and William Tate, of Fairmont, Ga., was the outstanding social event of the week taking place Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. David C. Barrow and the late Chancellor Barrow.

The Rev. G. I. Hiller, rector of Emmanuel church, read the rites, and Mrs. Ison, organist of the church, played the wedding music. The handsome decorations throughout the rooms provided an exquisite setting with candle light blending with the twilight hour. The drawing room was in green and white with a background of festoons of smilax, clematis and great clusters of white and flesh gladioli in effective arrangement. The improvised altar of palms and ferns was built against the double windows and flanked with cathedral candlesticks holding the white tapers.

The bride was a picture of youthful Barrow.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Barrow, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Grace Walker, of Beaumont, Texas, as maid of honor and Mrs. C. S. Long, of Anniston, Ala., was matron of honor. The bridemaids were Misses Eleanor Williams, of Athens; Sarah Tate, of Fairmont; Margaret Fortson, Frances Barrow, Mary Lamar Erwin and Laura Smith, of Athens; Louise Hammond, of Augusta, and Pauline Stephens, of Brunswick.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Phillip Tate, of Fairmont, and the little girls acting as ribbon bearers, and forming the aisle for Tate will reside in Chattaneoga.

Due to limited equipment, the number of this group will not be large, and those who are interested should send in their registratins immediately. The program will consist of swimming, life-saving, boating, tennis, dramatics, dancing, handicrafts, hiking and Scout technique, each ably instructed by a counsellor qualified for her duties. Those girls who are not yet Scouts may, by passing their tenderfoot test at camp and paying their national registration fee, attend camp for either two or four weeks. The cost is $15 for two weeks, which includes transportation to and from camp. In addition to these activities, new games suitable for both outdoor and indoor have been secured, which may be used by all members of the game room. Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My Mother-in-law has eight children, yet elects of spend her days with me and my usband. I have suggested to her that hey might enjoy having her for part of the year, for a visit at ast, but she is deaf to any such in-law has eight children, yet elects and the mother-in-law get behind and the mother-in-law get behind closed doors and criticize me freely They criticize the way I keep house, the way I handle the children, the way I treat my husband. They have even had the temerity to criticize me before my oldest child. He reported to me what they said. In the face of these injustices I am supposed to keep sweet and be polite to people who are outraging all the laws of hospitality, to say nothing of the laws of kindness. What should a woman do under these circumstances? MRS. L. E. W. to spend her days with me and my husband. I have suggested to her that they might enjoy having her for a part of the year, for a visit at least, but she is deaf to any such suggestion. She has thoroughly spoiled my children. When I attempt to discipline them she takes their part in ed my children. When I attempt to discipline them she takes their part in their hearing and you can imagine how that nullifies the effect of my discipline. In consequence not only the children but I as well am becoming demoralized. It is useless to correct the children when I must be reproved by the aread matter.

ANSWER Occasionally one of my sisters-She should assert herself and de- and set in these ways, there is not al of the children, and having formed the habit of freely criticizing you to her cown children and to your children, she will not easily be broken of those habits. Your husband should have stepped in long ago and stood between you and these indignities which his mother has heaped upon you. The chances are, however, that he is under her domination. If this be true it probably accounts for the fact that she prefers to live with him and you. Being domineering, head strong, old, and set in these ways, there is not a

If your husband hasn't the spunk necessary to help you, then you should do the job alone. Tell the mother-in-law that it is your bome and that unless she is willing to refmin from interference with your discipline of the children, she has got to get out of your home. You have evidently pussy-footed around he or she wouldn't have dored arrogate so much authority to herself. Aside from the protection of your pride and your peace of mind a duty devolves upon you in this matter—the duty to your children. If the children are becoming demoralized the fault may lie with an interfering grandmother, but the responsibility for the results lies with you and your husband. If the continued presence of the grandmother in the home means a continuation of this demoralizing process, then it is your duty to force her to mend her ways, or, failing in that, to get rid of her altogether.

at ease Thursday afternoon. He had just heard from the faculty committee that his football players had passed their examinations on the final term and would all be eligible for next fall.

Now, Mr. Alexander had no great football team last autumn but he is grateful for small favors. The report showed that the Georgia Tech players had been working. They made no startling marks. But they showed them-selves to be good, average students.

In view of the fact that football players are being frowned oon by reformers who insist that the football player is worked too hard even though the football player says he isn't and en-'s his play very much; and in view of the fact that the foothall player has been pointed out as a dumb bunny by those opposed to the game it is a relief to find that some of them are ust average students after all.

It would also be interesting to investigate and find just how many of the Greek letter lodges and how many of the clubs can show as good an average as the foot-ball squad.

There are too many middle aged professors who become very sore-muscled indeed from digging in the flower beds once a week and who thereafter make it a life work to try and reduce the work done by the poor football player who must suffer from so much work. And there are too many people seeking to reform football who have never played it and do not

There are many colleges at which football is overemphasized and many which have exaggerated faults such as subsidies and an inadequate faculty control in the class room of the athletes.

But the few rotten ones can't spot the entire crop. College football remains as wholesome as any other cross-section of any one university.

POOR OLD MAC SMITH.

There is a growing impression that Gene Sarazen, with Bobby Jones out of the competitive game, is the best golfer in the world. If he should come through at Fresh Meadow next week in the national open, and add it to the British title, there wouldn't be a great deal of doubt. wouldn't be a great deal of doubt.

And Sarazen may do it. He was professional at Fresh Meadow for a number of years. And no one knows the course any better than he. But it is also the sort of course that will suit the long, accurate play of Mac Smith with the wood clubs.

There would likely be a sustained ovation in golf if the Carnoustie stylist were to crash through after more years of disappointment than any other golfer has ever known unless it was Bobby Jones in the seven years he spent trying to crash through. But Smith's time of travail has been longer.

It was in 1910 that Mac Smith finished in a triple tie for first place in the open. His brother, Alex, won in the play-off. A few years after that Mac Smith disappeared from golf. It was 1923 when he came back, better than ever.

They say that no one ever recalls who finished in second place. But it isn't likely that Mac Smith will be forgot. He has been thrust into second place behind some inspired player that he has carved out a little niche all for himself.

More than once he has seemed a sure winner in the British open, only to have something happen in the last round to leave him the plate in the first game, got him in second place. Twice in major open competition he has broken 290 and yet placed second. There is nothing like that anywhere in golf. That figure isn't broken often.

| Cotton Rhaupp, who who wheel because the plate in the first game, got a round of razzing from the fans for his weird version of balls and strikes.

| LITTLE ROCK— ab. r. h. po. a. who will be plate in the first game, got a smile:
| Single Plate | Plate

It was in 1930 that Smith trailed Bobby Jones in England and then came direct to Interlachen to shoot a 289 and still find himself trailing Jones. Last year he tried again, only to find himself three strokes behind Tommy Armour, Armour being near perfect in the final round.

The old jinx still clings on. This year Mac Smith fired a 28 in the British open. Now only once before in the British ope has a 290 been broken. That was in 1927 when Bobby Jone shot his record-breaking 285 at St. Andrews.

And here was Smith with a 288. But there was Gene Sarazen with a 283, setting a new record for the British

That sort of thing has been trailing Mac Smith for years. He can't shake it off. There will be quite a field at Fresh Meadow-Sarazen, Burke, Armour, Perkins, Von Elm, Horton Smith and all the others. And while a victory by Sarazen would be the spectacular thing, one by Mac Smith would carry more drama than anything which might happen in the major

TERRY HAS CHANCE.

Cold and calculating Bill Terry has an excellent opportunity o set a new major league record. No manager has ever taken over a team in mid-season and won a pennant with it. A numher of first-year managers have won flags, but never one who stepped in at mid-season.

Rogers Pornsby, who took over the Cardinals in midseason in 1925, brought them from nowhere to finish a good fourth. Terry already has his club in and out of fourth place and looks like a real threat.

The boys in New York seem to have a little trouble getting much copy out of Terry. His stock report is, "Don't write about me. Write about my boys." Terry is friendly with them all, but not too friendly. Before he was manager he roomed with Travis Jackson. Now he rooms by himself.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE RED-HEAD.

It's really too bad how much the strain of managing a second-division ball club has hurt the play of David Irenus (Red)

The poor fellow is just hitting the baseball for a mark of .329 and fielding for the fine average of .950. Which is about the best baseball he has played, everything considered. His fielding is especially good because he is on the starting end of four double plays. The outfielders aren't doing much of that in this day and time.

It is too bad the red-head didn't get the financial help he was faithfully and sentimentally promised. With it he might have had a ball club up in there.

HE CAN HANDLE THEM,

That's a great story one of the men who saw it tells about Barron in action after he found that some of his men had been giving him the double-cross when he put them on their honor about keeping in shape.

This fellow says that Barron's face was set like granite and that his eyes were cold and hard. "I see I've been an easy manager," he said, "but I'm not any more. I don't care what happens. From now on to stay on this club a fellow has got to deliver. And I won't be looking the other way any more."

Barron has no system of espionage. He has no strict training rules. But the boys who can't keep step are going to be sent out of there. He can handle them all right,

MARQUARD WINS

Travelers Take First, 7-4, But Lose Second Game, 4 to 3.

By Jimmy Jones.

Like a slow-motion unreeling of a movie from the gay nineties, Rube Marquard stalked out of baseball retirement to pitch seven innings for the Atlanta Crackers last night. And with 2,095 onlookers straining with anxiety on every pitch, the grand old man of the mound went the limit, held the Little Rock Travelers to seven hits and won his ball game, 4 to 3.

Without the aid of the thawing sun—so essential to the old-timers—the Rube stood out there on a damp night and gave a remarkable exhibi-tion of pitching with that canny brain and rubber arm. He struck out two men and the crowd applauded again when he threw out Gerken himself for the last out.

TWO UNEARNED.

Two of the runs scored off him were unearned. They came in on two errors in the third inning. One of the hits he allowed was a scratch.

The Travelers nicked him for a run in the first on two hits. In the third they got two more on one hit and errors by Goff and Fenton—both ing that afternoon. and errors by Goff and Fenton—both of which saw chances for double plays wasted. But Marquard, getting better as he went, turned in four scorcless innings and in the sixth his mates put on an inspired rally for four runs. Two errors by Henry Strohm and three hits did it. Held to one hit up to that frame, they went out to win for Rube. Young Duck McKee, pinch hitting for Kies, got the single that sent Jack Fenton over with the winning run. Youth had struck a blow ning run. Youth had struck a blow for age.

In the first game, Lefty Carrithers, the Rube's protege, pitched a splendid game, but got terrible support and lost 7 to 4. Buster Chatham, usually the best of fielders, made three errors. By way of contrast, let it be said that Marquard was pitching four years be-fore Carrithers was born. The boy

Casey Jones, Who Flew Tunney, To Be His Pilot.

By Max Schmeling,

Heavyweight Champion of the World. (Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) KINGSTON. N. Y., June 15.—I suppose I ought to write about my coming fight with Jack Sharkey, but right now I'm thinking more about airplanes and riding in the air than I am about the battle.

The old master delivered every ball with the deliberation of a jury weighing a life and he sized up every batter that came up with the caution of an Indian warrior picking his way through an ambush.

There were men and women there who knew Rube as one of the game's greatest southpaws back before the guns began to boom along the Marne, and when there was no Volstead law. They were there to see him win if possible and they were glad to see guns began to boom along the Marne, and when there was no Volstead law. They were there to see him win it possible and they were glad to see him do it.

Memories of Matty, McGinnity and other great men of the Rube's time hovered like ghosts around the mound where the Rube toiled. They are all gone. But Marquard came back after 20 years in the game.

When Fat Elrod hoisted his megative was a state of the s

LIKES SKILL.

IIKES SKILL.

It made me decide that here was a young fellow who would put up a good fight, and one who would not quit under fire. I am not a flyer, but I like skill of any kind in another. I was surprised at the skill and ease with which Stribling handled the "ship," and was more interested in watching him than I was in my boxing that afternoon.

So, if the actual flying of a plane by my opponent did nothing to unnerve me, how on earth could my merely flying as a passenger in a perfectly safe ship have any effect on Sharkey?

After another day of idleness, bro-ken only by some golf, I came here in time to find two planes circling ver my cottage.

I said to Jacobs, and he replied with "Maybe you'll be there sooner than you think."

Then he outlined the plan to fly to New York. After the planes landed on the golf course here we went over and met Bill Zelger, and some other prominent officials.

I was much interested in the plane, and Zelger explained to me all about the controls, etc.

"It's a cinch." he said to me when I asked him if it was hard to learn to fiv.

4 GERMAN WRITERS.

I had four German newspapermen fresh from Germany as visitors also. They are here to cover my fight and this is the first time Germany has sent that many men to this country to report a prize fight.

I am much pleased at the way things are going forward. I only hope now for a good night, so far as the weath-er is concerned. Nothing else wor-baller Shutout.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(P)—Burleigh Grimes won a brilliant duel from Carl Hubbell today and gave the Chicago Cubs a 2-to-1 victory over the Giants.

Grimes' triumph snapped the Giants' streak of six straight victories, gave them their first defeat at home since Bill Terry became manager and increased Chicago's margin over the idle Boston Braves to two full games.

The veteran spitballer allowed only seven hits, four of them in the last two innings, and lost a shutout when Sam Leslie, pinch-hitting for Hubbell in the eighth, lined a homer into the right-field stands.

Woody English hit the first pitch was a safitation water and unexpectedly blown away in the first round.

Woody English hit the first pitch in the initial inning and caromed a single off third base. Bill Herman sacrificed and Kiki Cuyler clouted a triple to left to send home the first run. Lindstrom, backing up Fullis on the hit, made a bad throw to the infield and English scored what proved to be the winning run on the error.

After that Hubbell gave only five hits and fanned six before he was relieved. Grimes was in trouble only twice. In the sixth he hurt his pitching hand trying to stop Critz's single and had to rest a moment, and in the last inning he had the tying and winning runs on base when English made a great play on Hogan's grounder and threw him out to end the game.

All the Washington runs were scored off Earl Whitehill, who pitched six innings and allowed seven hits, including a homer by Reynolds in the second with none on. Tommy Bridges and Truett Sewell worked in later innings. Joe Cronin, returning to the Senators' lineup after 12 days' absence because of an injury, batted in two runs in the sixth inning with a triple and later crossed the plate himself.

Barfield and Allen Matched by Roby

A real battle is in prospect at Roby's arena Monday night when Frankie Allen, Atlanta welterweight, meets Ears Barfield, of Macon, in the eight-round feature bout.

eight-round feature bout.

Ears Barfield, a youngster who has had more than 50 bouts, is one of the most popular fighters in Georgia. He always puts up a pleasing battle. Barfield's victories over such men as Jimmie Griffin, Jackie Greenfield, Jack Harp, Jimmy Smith, Gue Cambell and others stamp him as a coming star. Allen is a worthy opponent.

Allen is a worthy opponent.

Promoter Roby has lined up a mixed boxing and wrestling match that should prove of great interest to the fans. Jack Sexton, Atlanta boxer, will box six rounds against Bill Collins, who will confine his efforts to wrestling. Much interest is being evinced over the semi-windup featuring Jack Britt, Texas welter, and Sailor Born, of Atlanta. Kid Tiller and Lou Kid Gashzio, colored battlers, meet in an eight-round special bout to settle their feud which started some weeks ago after a great fight. Ladies will again be admitted free when accompanied by a pald escort.

TO WIN CROWN

NEW YORK, June 16 .- (UP)-NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—
Gene Sarazen tomorrow will arrive from England where he won the British open golf championship, and will learn that he has been made a 5-to-1 favorite to win the United States title at Flushing, next week.

Betting odds prepared by a reliable handicapper who has "made book" on the United States open for many years, and given to the United Press tonight, placed Sarazen in a class by himself.

Three players, George Von Elm, runner-up in the 1931 championship; MacDonald Smith, never a major title-holder, and Tommy Armour, former and Tommy Armour, former and United States champion, ranked next at 6 to 1.

The betting favoritism on Sarazen bore out beliefs of most golf writers of the metropolitan area. Gene will be playing on what for years was his home course. He has repeatedly played the Fresh Meadow layout in par figures, and three strokes above par, or 73, in each of the four rounds, for an aggregate of 292, are popularly supposed to be good enough to win the title.

Attaway, Bohannan Will Fight Tonight

One of the most striking features of the National league pennant race very season is an interview and a visit with Rogers Hornsby, the dynamic ader of the Chicago Cubs. Hornsby happens to be a fellow who tells ou what he thinks, without any frills, not caring what you print if you unte him correctly. And he usually thinks along sound lines.

"What about this 1932 National league race?" I asked.

"There are at least five clubs in is race good enough to win with the GARDEN TURNS eaks. I believe it will be the hotst finish we have seen in a long time ad I also believe there will be four all clubs in the fight all through

HERE'S TO GOOD HEALTH I DRINK 'EM MYSELF

If you want the "low down" on the best beverage bet, take a tip from the man behind the bar. Ten or a dozen times a day he dashes up a drink for himself. The wise ones know you can drink all day without tiring of the Dr. Pepper taste. Then, too, there's no tax on the "tummy"; never a case of "nerves." Harmless? Heck, yes! But it helps like a ladder in a well.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(P)—Security markets today maintained the improved tone they have been holding against odds of unfavorable business news, stressing instead the change that has occurred in such fundamentais as the country's gold position and indications that inflationary measures were to receive the cold shoulder.

Rail shares assumed leadership of the stock list. The market as a whole met resistance as the recent peak was approached and experienced some profit-taking toward the close. Rail stocks exceeded their average of a fortnight ago and finished higher. Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Norfolk & Western and Reading, among other rails, were up 1 to 2 points at the top.

Industrials and utilities were not particularly enthusiastic about following this rise. A few tobaccos outstripped the generally fractional recovery, Sugar stocks were again stronger. Sales totaled 849,315 shapes.

Federal reserve policy, in the new circumstances created by cessation of the gold drain, is expected to under-the gold drain, is expected to undergo no change, except that weekly purchases of government securities will likely taper off.

Additions to the system's portfolio of "governments" in the past week totaled $48,000,000, the smallest increments so far. Member bank borrowings were reduced about $5,000,000.

Although foreign exchange fluctuations have become a matter of more or less academic interest, the dollar increased its advantage markedly.

Foreign Markets

LONDON—Gilt-edged securities and industrials benefitted on investment buying. Consols were over par for the first time while other sections eased fractionally on profit-taking. The close was cheerful.

PARIS—Favorable Wall Street reports attended trading on the bourse. After a moderate opening prices rose under bear repurchases and closed very firm.

BERLIN—Trading on the boerse continued dull with slight fluctuations in prices. The market closed at yesterday's levels.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(P)—With only moderately active trading, the cotton market fluctuated frequently today and although showing a tend-lyted and although showing a tend-lyteday and although showing a tend-lyteday and although showing a tend-lyte flower in the stock for a long pull.

Investment buying persists in the old production of the potentialities in the June 20 meeting of the international petroleum conference in Paris.

We understand that the present low price of lyth yields. Russia again shipped no wheat and other Black Sea shipments were only 104,000 bushels. Argentine shipments were only 104,000 bushels. The market shows strong undertone but trusts and one estate, in which case the would confine purchases to sethacks. Contained and business circles.

The Takeout Double. BY ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst. When an opponent has opened the bidding and an opposing player finds himself strong in honor cards and with a hand that offers a choice as to the correct eventual declaration, the Takeout Double is, in many situations, a most effective weapon. Frequently, however, the problem presented to the partner of the Doubler is difficult of solution. The situation which occurs when the partner of the Doubler holds only one four-card suit, and that the suit bid by the adversary, requires special treatment. This has been provided for in the Approach-Forcing System by in such cases, bidding the lowest three-card minor, provided that suit is not the one chosen by the opponent for opening the bidding.

An illustration of the effective use

An illustration of the effective use of this bid occurred in a recent game in Montgomery, Ala. The holder of the East hand was Miss Annie Maude Dawson. The hand and bidding were.

and bid afterward.

2-West has no four-card suit except the suit bid by his opponent. He, therefore, responds with his lowest three-card suit and leares the final decision to his partner.

3-East's hand suggests the strong probability of only three losers—one club, one heart and one spade. Further bidding by partner, with this tremendous massed honor strength and South's Opening bid, appears out of the question. The direct bid for game is therefore justified.

In the play, South opened the King of clubs and East dropped the Queen. Of course, South knew that unless this was a following the suit of th

New York Curb Exchange Transactions

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—
Prices maintained a fairly firm tone in the slowest session of the curb market in recent years today.

The turnover of approximately 80.—
000 shares was 40,000 less than yesterday's. On the whole, curb shares were neglected.

There was some profit-taking in the late trading. Electric Bond & Share virtually lost a fractioual rise.

SELLING TELEPHONE SHORT.

Some professional traders are still bearish on American Telephone and Telegraph stock, selling that issue short every time it shows signs of strength.

(Copyright, 1982, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

ONEONTA, Ala., June 16.—(P)—While his four young children looked on Burt Wilson, farmer living eight miles from here, shot his wife to death today and committed suicide, reports received here said. Wilson, widely known in rural Blount county as a church worker, was reported to have used a shotgun to kill his wife and end his own life. The children witnessing the tragedy ranged in age from four to less than a year old.

(P)—Major T. B. Curtis, of the veterans' bureau at San Antonio, and A. W. Turner, San Antonio veteran, were shot, probably fatally, when a mental patient seized a gun and started firing in a crowded Pullman car here today.

Curtis, shot three times, and Turner, shot twice, were taken to the San Marcos hospital.

Highlights of Wall Street BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street. NEW YORK, June 16.—Stock dealings were less active today and the upward movement lost some of its momentum. Underlying firmness, however, prevailed during the greater part of the session and it was not until near the close, when the renomination of President Hoover was announced, that an easier tendency developed.

Sentiment in the Street continues to favor the long side of the stock market. An encouraging development is the increased willingness on the part of professional operators and traders to make new commitments on the long side.

Europeans again were in the market.

Europeans again were in the mar-ket as purchasers, although the total volume was small.

Increased activity and price improvement in rails furnished one of the features of the day's trading, headed by Chesapeake & Ohio and New York Central.

New York Central.

The former undoubtedly was in better inquiry, owing to the statement by the head of the road that he thought it was possible to continue the $2.50 annual dividend. Expansion in dealings in New York Central continued to be due to increased activity on the part of a speculative group.

Betterment in the market for these two issues imparted a firmer undertone to other shares of common carriers.

CITIES ARE EXEMPT FROM NEW U. S. TAX ON ELECTRIC POWER

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, Thurs-day sent letters to Mayor James L. Key and mayors of cities and towns served with electricity by the com-pany informing them that the munici-palities are not to pay tax under the new federal revenue bill.

Mr. Arkwright, in his letter, said Mr. Arkwright, in his letter, said that all political divisions of the state are exempt from the payment of this tax, which is a customer assessment.

He said in cases where the power company sells direct to a municipality which in turn distributes the energy to citizens, no tax would be paid to the power company but it would be up to these municipalities to collect the assessment from their consumers under provisions of the measure.

BERLIN, June 16 .- (P)-The ban on Adolf Hitler's troops, promulgated months ago, was lifted today by the Immediately there were strong protests from the states of Baden and

Premier Josef Schmitt, of Baden, declared in Karlsruhe that his gov-ernment could not be held responsible for maintaining order with the nazi troopers free to carry on demonstra-

This protest apparently had no in of the outlawed hitlerite militant organization, an exception was made in the case of Baden.

In Munich, the Bavarian provincial government ruled that the ban on open-air political demonstrations will remain in force. In Prussia, uniforms will be permitted, but open-air political meetings remain "verboten."

The lifting of the nazi ban was part of a decree which also freed tho reich-banner republicans and the nationalist steel helmet war veterans.

In recognition of his 30 years' service as an educator of negro youth. President Samuel Howard Archer, of Morehouse college, has been honored with the degree of doctor of divinity by his alma mater, Colgate University. The degree was granted on the occasion of the university's 118th commencement and the 30th anniversary of his own graduation from college. President Archer succeeded Dr. John Hope as head of Morehouse college in 1931, when Dr. Hope took over the presidency of Atlanta University. Since his graduation from Colgate in 1902 Dr. Archer has served constantly as a teacher, first at Roger Williams University.

award to Brown marked the first time the gold star has ever been voted to any man outside the police department. Hughes fatally wounded G. C. Moon and critically wounded "Shorty" Hamilton in an effort to rob the cafe. Issac Yohai, former poolroom operator, was denied a permit to operate a poolroom at 20 Decatur street, by the committee. Opposition to the permit was led by the Central Marietta Street Association.

John H. Newsom was divested of his authority as a special officer upon the complaint of persons residing at 112 Rawson street, who told police Newsom entered the house without a warrant, and was abusive to several women. Charges of disorderly conduct were lodged against Newsom as the result of the alleged intrusion,
